The Future of Sustainability

Last month, we honored our founder, George P. Mitchell, on what would have been his 100th birthday. A visionary, a leader, and a businessman, his thoughts on sustainability articulate our organization's vision – to be able in his words – to address a growing population and its natural resources and energy needs in a socially responsible way that ensures well-being for this and future generations. ## I HARC High School Intern Program: Preparing Tomorrow's Leaders, Today

With education a central part of its mission, annually HARC opens its campus to a team of bright and enthusiastic high school interns. This year, HARC was pleased once again to participate in the Education for Tomorrow Alliance's Summer Intern Program (SIP). In addition, and new for 2019, HARC launched the HARC Community Sustainability High School Intern Program. With this dedicated talent roaming our halls, HARC seeks to impact the future, today.
